Innovations in Public Involvement Tips and Best Practices

Organizing a Citizen Advisory Group

Issues

To organize a Citizens Advisory Group requires, as a first step, to define the issue (s) to be addressed.

Is a Citizen Group appropriate for this issue? Keep in mind that:

- Citizen Groups are usually made up of a small group of community volunteers representing a range of points of view and areas of expertise.
- Citizen Advisory Groups can become a helpful link back to the community that they represent.
- A Citizen Group may not be perceived as adequately representing the broader public, or residents affected by a proposal.

| Depending upon the time frame given to the Group, costs can become considerable and the $\mu$ cess can place a strain on staff resources. |  |  |  |  |  |

Define the Roll for the Group

Consider the following options in defining an overall role for a Citizen Group:

- Measuring the opinions of special populations
- Sounding Board (providing general reactions and opinions)
- Independent technical review body
- · Group asked to recommend change on existing policies or procedures
- Decision-making, managing group
- Watchdog group, ensuring accountability and transparency on the part of municipal decision-makers

Select Group Members

The broader audience being represented by the Group will depend on the particular issue being addressed, and could include any of the following:

- All members of the public
- Residents in a specific geographic area affected by a particular proposal
- Special interest groups affected by a particular proposal
- Groups or communities traditionally underserved by planning

To a large extent, the Group will be judged by the composition of its membership. Consider the following methods for selecting a balanced and credible group of Group members:

- Direct appointment by the municipality
- Direct appointment by a neutral third party
- Election by members of the public at a public meeting
- Appointments by the municipality based on nominations received from the public
- Ensure that the Group has equal representation of women and men as well as the diversity of the municipality's residents

|                               |                                   |                   |                  |                 |                  |
|                               |                                   |                   |                  |                 |                  |

Resource People

Select and Train Staff: Staff training will depend on the level of Staff involvement defined by the Group, and could involve the following:

- Basic orientation on the role of the Group is appropriate where the Group is composed entirely of residents.
- A more comprehensive orientation session is appropriate where a staff member is selected to serve as Chair or Group member.

The Meeting

Prepare information for the Group's first meeting

Keep in mind that the Group may need background and technical information such as:

- Purpose of the project/proposal
- Main issues related to the project/proposal
- Disaggregated information by gender, race, age, income, status, etc. to show how the situation affects women and men differently
- Members of the study team
- Any relevant evaluation criteria being used by the municipality
- Proposed steps in the process of public participation
- The Group's role in the process
- Alternative options being considered in the process

Define an Agenda for the First Meeting

Consider including some of the following items in the agenda for a first meeting:

- Selection of a chairperson from among the Group's members
- Definition of a voting procedure
- Clarification of the Group's terms of reference
- Definition of role to be played by agency staff
- Policy on confidentiality of material provided to the group
- · Policy on funding for expenses incurred by Group members
- Schedule of subsequent meetings.

Follow-up Activities

Several options can be considered once a Group meeting has taken place:

- Minutes of the meetings can be used to prepare reports for staff
- Information Publications can be used to keep the public up-to-date on the Group's progress
- Particular attention should be paid to providing the general public with opportunities to review and evaluate any recommendations provided by the Group

Establish the Overall Time Frame

In preparing a work plan, keep in mind the following steps. Consider providing an estimate of days or weeks next to each step:

| <ul> <li>Initial preparatory work</li> </ul>       |  |
|--|--|
| <ul> <li>Member selection process</li> </ul>       |  |
| •  |  |
| <ul> <li>Information for first meeting</li> </ul>  |  |
| <ul> <li>Additional staff training time</li> </ul> |  |
| <ul> <li>Support for first meeting —</li> </ul>    |  |
| • Follow-up time                                   |  |

Prepare a Budget

Consider the following costs:

- Notifying the public
- Holding a Public Meeting
- Information / presentation production costs (multiplied by the number of meetings)
- Member's expenses (multiplied by the number of meetings)
- Facilities (multiplied by the number of meetings)
- Follow-up report production costs
- Follow-up advertising to public
- Costs associated with extensions in the Group's mandate

| List expected costs: |  |  |
|----------------------|--|--|
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |
|                      |  |  |

Identify Funding

Other _____

Consider a range of mechanisms for funding these costs:

- Departmental funding
- Municipal funding outside department
- In-kind contributions (volunteer time, facility space)
- Sponsorship/cash donations
- Funding from senior levels of government
- International sources of funding
